

PETER G. PETERSON AWARD FOR BUSINESS STATESMANSHIP

Alan Mulally
President and Chief Executive Officer
Ford Motor Company

The Peter G. Peterson Award for Business Statesmanship was established to recognize executives who champion issues that are in the best interest of the public good, rather than their company or personal interests, and hold themselves to the highest standards of ethics and integrity.

CED is proud to honor Alan Mulally, President and Chief Executive Officer of Ford Motor Company, for his leadership and focus on reviving Ford and investing in his people, while maintaining a strong commitment to sustainability, the environment, and smarter manufacturing. The work he has done at Ford is an important contribution to revitalizing U.S. manufacturing and to helping the U.S. compete in a global marketplace.

In addition to Alan's contribution to revitalizing manufacturing in America, CED admires his extraordinary leadership of the "One Ford" strategy. By developing a compelling vision and ensuring relentless implementation, Alan has been a stellar leader at Ford. He is a true example for other corporate leaders to follow.

Alan's distinguished career includes management positions at Boeing. Currently, he serves on the President's Export Council, is a member of the United States National Academy of Engineering, and a fellow of England's Royal Academy of Engineering.

CED commends Alan for his dedicated leadership as a Business Statesman as we present him with the Peter G. Peterson Award for Business Statesmanship.
