

Everyone should have the peace of mind that comes with health insurance.

Offer refundable tax credits so that every consumer can choose the plan that he or she wants - easily and affordably.

CED's system of tax credits would cover the full cost of a basic health care plan so that every consumer can access care.

Health care plan costs that exceed the amount of the tax credit would have to be paid by the consumer.

As a result, providers would have a strong incentive to offer low-cost, high-quality plans.
